Introduction

PRELIMINARY PROGRAM

With an innovating design, and with the aim of facilitating scientific discussion and conversations among experts, this meeting raised in 2021 as a result of a post-pandemic scenario in which technology allowed a quick and easy access to a rapidly evolving knowledge in urologic malignancies, but, at the same time, propitiated lesser interaction and discussion around the open questions in genitourinary cancers.

The previous Trending Topics in GU Oncology Meeting was held at Gran Canaria in January 2023, and was executed over the course of 1.5 days, under the scientific coordination of Dr. Guillermo de Velasco, of the Madrid University Hospital 12 de Octubre, and Dr. Alfonso Gómez de Liaño, of the Las Palmas University Hospital Complex Insular-Materno Infantil. During this meeting, the current issues and future perspectives in renal, prostate and bladder cancer were debated with comprising top experts in urologic oncology, through an unconventional and novel approach in order to limit classic slides presentations, encouraging active participation and debate with expert-based conversations.

This year, we want to continue supporting this format but also bring new ideas to this meeting in order to move forward to further innovate and change how medical education is conceived.
